

A horizontal timeline showing the sequence of events for the 2004 US Presidential election. The timeline starts at 60 days before the election, moves to 0 (the election day), then to 60 days after the election, and finally to 120 days after the election. Key events are marked along this timeline: 'Voting begins' at 60 days before, 'Election results are announced' at 0, 'Congress meets to certify the results' at 60 days after, and 'Inauguration ceremony' at 120 days after. To the right of the timeline is a circular icon with a diagonal line through it, indicating a restriction or prohibition.
